Now, I'd like to read you a bit about the candidates running for Mayor of Newark in 2014, and afterwards I'd like to ask you about what you've just heard. [READ AND ROTATE]

Ron C. Rice is a Councilman from the West Ward. Rice is a reformer who passed a groundbreaking bill to end 'pay-to-play' in Newark, fought against discrimination based on criminal records, and created a program to empower minority developers and first time homebuyers to settle in Newark. As Mayor, Rice will work to sustain and grow economic development in the neighborhoods and develop a plan to fight crime beyond traditional policing.

Ras Baraka is a Councilman from the South Ward, high school principal and community activist who is fighting to give a voice to Newark residents. Baraka helped reduce gang violence in our community, aided small businesses struggling to stay afloat and improved our quality of life by addressing abandoned buildings. As Mayor, Baraka will fight to create jobs through public works projects and take a community-based approach to reducing crime and violence in our neighborhoods.

Anibal Ramos is a Councilman from the North Ward. Ramos is a leader of Newark's Latino community, and in his job running the Department of Citizen Services in Essex County, Ramos has served residents by expanding social services for those who need them, including Newark's homeless and youth. As Mayor, Ramos will fighting against wasteful spending that does not address the needs of Newark residents.

Shavar Jeffries is a member of the Newark Public Schools Advisory Board, where he is a leader in improving education for our children. Jeffries grew up in the South Ward, and worked his way through college and law school before moving back to Newark. As Mayor, Jeffries will continue working to improve Newark schools with innovative programs that give parents, not politicians and bureaucrats, say over their own children's education.

15. Sometimes people change their mind in a survey like this and sometimes they don't. Once again, if the candidates for Mayor of Newark were [ROTATE] Ron C. Rice, Ras Baraka, Anibal Ramos and Shavar Jeffries, for whom would you vote? [IF UNDECIDED, ASK] If you had to decide, which candidate would you lean towards supporting?

Finally, I would like to read what some Newark residents are saying about Cory Booker and get your opinion on what you've just heard.

Cory Booker talks a good game, but he just hasn't delivered in Newark. While Booker has been promoting his own political career, unemployment in Newark is at 16 percent, even higher among our young people. Minority-owned small businesses are getting shut out of development in the city. The crime rate increased 6% last year, and even though almost 200 people were murdered in Newark in the last two years, the city has 137 fewer police officers than in 2010. And our students are suffering with school closures that hurt children in the communities that need great public schools the most.
